Whether it's investigation, litigation or compliance, AccessData offer solutions that put the power of forensics in yours and your customers' hands. By partnering with AccessData, industry-leaders in forensic and e-discovery solutions, you and your customers will benefit from superior solutions that empower faster results, better insights, and more connectivity.

Your Forensics Champion: Your Partner Programme

We're putting you and your customers first, rewarding not just on size or revenues but also on capability, expertise and customer excellence. It will enable you to train and develop your people, to earn certifications, and to reach a status that's relevant to both your own and your customers' needs.

Partnering with AccessData gives you and your business a new advantage, putting the power of forensics and e-discovery in your hands.

When you partner with AccessData, we will help you to develop new opportunities to advance your business.

As an AccessData partner, we will always make sure that you are at the forefront of any new developments.

Being an AccessData partner means you'll receive the most current and valuable advice.

Becoming a Partner

There are two levels of partner status that can be achieved in the new AccessData Partner Programme.

Partner | Premier Partner

We also work with a number of global distribution partners, along with dedicated technical alliance partners to further expand the solutions available to you and your customers.

Benefits

Your new Partner Programme will continue to REWARD you commercially with attractive margins and timely offers. We have also now expanded your BENEFITS so that your dedication to customer experience and the CAPABILITY in your business will also be recognised and rewarded.

Requirements

Your new Partner Programme also includes a level of COMMITMENT that is required from you, depending on what type of partner you are/become. There will be general training and capability requirements for you to commit to and uphold.

Four reasons why you should partner with AccessData:

- AccessData provide the solutions you need to deliver the best customer experience
- AccessData are committed to providing market-leading products and solutions
- AccessData give you what you need to enable your business to grow
- AccessData are here to support you so you have everything you require to be the best
